

Hello!

You are reading my camp bio. Thanks for your curiosity. M' name's Greg and I love camping.

This is my face:

I am from here:

Atlanta, Georgia, United States of America, Earth.

It's a city in the middle of a forest!

This is what it looks like if you drive north for an hour.

That's me, your VL--looking at nature, eating trail mix, contemplating the salamanders that are clinging to the rocks as torrents of water wash over them.

This summer I want to explore the exciting possibilities within and without me. This camp is equipped to train us to become: dreamers, explorers, warriors, adventurers, artisans, peacekeepers, ninjas, pirates, spies, farmers, charmers, alarmers, and the subject of our innermost dreams!

Some Things

-I almost always wake up with a song in my head; I will sing it at or to anyone nearby

-Some of my favorite authors are: Bill Bryson, Kurt Vonnegut, Tom Robbins, Ray Bradbury, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, Alan Moore, George Orwell, Douglas Adams, H. G. Wells, Herman Hesse, Robert Pirsig, and Neil Gaiman

-Wolves are close to my heart

-I find peace, connection, and excitement in music. Please share your music tastes with me! I am trying to expand my musical horizons

Some Biographical Things

I graduated from the University of Georgia in 2012 with a B.S. in physics and a desire to teach science. For a year or two I bounced around Atlanta giving swim lessons, chess lessons, tutoring, and substitute teaching. I taught one year of mathematics and Science to eighth graders before attending camp augusta for my first summer. My first summer at camp augusta taught me what a loving supportive community can be. My first summer at camp augusta allowed me to develop my idea of what education can look like and I am excited to apply that knowledge to my first semester teaching at the Oxbow School in the coming fall.

Some Things That Make Me Happy

-Music, games, dancing, climbing, swimming, running, jumping, laughing, warm hugs, good books, spicy food, general adventure.
